EVINRUDE OUTBOARDS FROM 115 to 2 H.P.

EVINRUDE 100 M.P.H. ENGINEERING

WORLD'S OUTBOARD SPEED RECORD HOLDER!

The Evinrude V4 established the world record at 131 m.p.h. in 1966! In Bermuda Evinrude performs with the same high results - last year 'Tonky' Trott raced an Evinrude to first place in the 'Round-the-Island Race'. Three times in 1972 the Evinrude won clean sweeps in major world marathons...at Arizona the V4 came in 1-2-3-against the cream of the fastest outboards. When you buy an outboard don't settle for less than Evinrude quality.

Make the most of your future with the Bank of Bermuda

It would be fine if we could all look into the future and make our plans accordingly. But, without a crystal ball we can, from experience, tell you that a career in banking offers young people a great many excellent opportunities. So think it over. Come and see us near your school leaving time. If you are the sort of person we have in mind . . . then you're sure to like working with us.

Simple as A B C . . . A Banking Career!

From the Headmaster ...

You who will be leaving Warwick Academy this year must take great pride in the fact that you have been associated with an institution which has enjoyed such a distinguished heritage. Deep roots make a strong tree, and Warwick Academy, deeply rooted in tradition, has nurtured progress which has kept this institution abreast of changing times. While we revere this heritage, there is evidence of a continued desire and hunger for all of us to move forward, toward the pursuit of excellence. An indication is exemplified by the excellent G.C.E. results attained by our students. So, we at Warwick Academy can take great comfort in the poet's assurance that —

"Easily gained things are easily lost; That obtained without effort Is worth what it cost"

I hope the road through Warwick Academy has been challenging for all of you. We will have done you the greatest favour if we have made it a continuous test of your mettle. You should be justly proud to take your place with the distinguished alumni who preceded you. And Warwick Academy will be proud of you as you continue to pursue excellence and make Bermuda a better and more enjoyable place in which to live.

From the Senior Master...

Congratulations, fifth formers, on producing the third annual year book, thus strengthening this worth while tradition for other fifth forms to follow. Once again you have proved to be worthy pupils, both academically and in extra-curricular activities. I wish you all good fortune in your future endeavours.

G. Rodriguez

From the Senior Mistress...

It is not surprising that there have been many changes at Warwick Academy during the past year but I have seen with pleasure that one important factor has remained. During the year members of the fifth form have steadily changed in most cases, from pupils to students with a strong sense of responsibility for the welfare of the school.

Soon you will be adjusting to the extra demands which will undoubtedly be made upon you when you leave us. I am sure you will be more than adequate - you will enjoy the challenge. I have enjoyed having so many friends among you and wish you all success in the future.

REPORT FROM SPORTS STAFF

This has been a very encouraging year with the Junior groups in Boys and Girls showing a depth of talent that augurs well for the future.

The Inter House Tournaments were all very keenly contested and the House Captains and Games Captains deserve special praise this year for the enthusiasm they have maintained in their teams, which is so essential in these competitions.

To mention a few of the highlights of Inter school competition, The Rugby Teams keeping up the Warwick Academy tradition in this sport finished the season with the Juniors winning the Whitney Seven Aside Tournament and the Seniors, The Chaffee Tournament and all their Fifteen Aside Matches. Thanks to Coaches Mr. Rodriguez and Mr. Davies, the high standard of Rugby throughout the school was clearly seen in our own Inter House Tournament.

The Girls showed excellent form in their Hockey matches winning their own Area tournament and only going down to a narrow defeat in Inter School Finals.

In Track and Field the School Teams inspired by Branwen Smith's Gold Medal in the Carifta Games and with a great number of up and coming young athletes, made a big mark at the Inter School Athletic Championships, finishing Second overall and winning both Junior Groups for Boys and Girls. Several very good Inter School Records were set by our athletes and Branwen Smith for the Girls and Brian Brangman for the Boys won The "Most Outstanding Athlete Award" in their Groups.

In Softball the Girls are holding their own in Inter School competition and the Senior Boys Cricket Team looks like one of the best we have had. Four of the players have been selected for special coaching with the Bermuda Junior Squad.

For the past year we have been extremely fortunate in having Mike Wagner as Basket Ball Coach to our school teams. He has very generously given of his time and experience with the result that our teams have reached a very good standard and we can look forward to future success in this sport with next seasons teams.

Mrs. Ward has been working hard with Folk Dance and Gymnastics sections and hopefully with new facilities for Tennis and an expansion in the area of Water Sports, the future of Sport at Warwick Academy can look to an exciting and widening programme.

We are fortunate in having the space for new facilities, and we are even more fortunate in having the gifted young people who will make good use of them and through a rewarding and enjoyable experience in sport bring credit to themselves at the school.

SPORTS REPORT

SPORTS DAY

The Warwick Academy Sports Day, held under clear, sunny skies, produced some exciting competition of an extremely high standard. Rhodes House emerged as convincing winners some 200 points ahead of their nearest rivals, Robertson. Patton and Morgan finished third and fourth places, respectively.

Outstanding Individual performances were turned in by several competitors. Brian Brangman showed that he was a force to be reckoned with in the future by registering a record-shattering leap of 17 feet 11 inches in the group 'C' long jump and by capturing individual honours in his group. Branwen Smith excelled once again by shattering the shot putt record in group 'K' and by walking away with the trophy for being the most outstanding athlete in her group. Other competitors who turned in fine all-round performances were Denton Hurdle, Robert Corday and Vivian Richards.

At the conclusion of the day's programme the prizes were presented by Mr. Arnold Woolard, a former Warwick Academy pupil and a former soccer player who achieved fame both at home and abroad.

All in all, Sports Day was a successful event and this can be attributed to the Physical Education Department of the school, the assistance given by the rest of the staff and helpers from outside and the general enthusiasm of the students.

BRANWEN SMITH

Fresh from her success in our school sports, Branwen Smith continued her winning ways and participated in the CARIFTA games in Trinidad and won a gold medal in the shot putt with a record heave of over 38 feet  $1\frac{1}{2}$  inches and a silver medal in the long jump.

INTERSCHOOL SPORTS

The results of Warwick Academy's sports day augered well for the Inter-school Athletics competition which was held on Thursday, May 18th.

In this competition held under inclement weather conditions, Warwick Academy Students turned in many outstanding performances. Branwen Smith continued her winning ways with firsts in the long jump, discus and shot putt, registering new records in each event. Branwen also won individual honours in group 'K'.

Brian Brangman also excelled in group 'C' breaking two Interschool records in the long jump and hurdles. Brian also won individual honours in his group.

Christopher Brown broke the group 'C' discus record; Jerome Stovell clipped .8 of a second from the 80 metres hurdles record for group 'D' and Vivian Richards won the 100 metres and 200 metres sprint events in group 'H', breaking one record and equalling the other.

Overall Warwick Academy placed second to Berkeley Institute in the final standings after winning cups in the C' and 'H' groups.

RUGBY

Rugby competition at Warwick Academy has been very keen this year. Early interschool competition saw the junior and senior rugby squads defeat Warwick Secondary, the juniors and seniors defeating Mount St. Agnes, with the intermediates drawing with them. The junior team went on to win the under 13 Whitney seven-a-side tournament. The intermediates were not as lucky and were defeated in the first round of this tournament. The senior team, defeated by Saltus earlier in the season, defeated Saltus 'B' team to go into the semi-finals against Saltus 'A' and lost in a controversial battle by 6-0.

The senior team, however, in the Chaffee Rugby Tournament defeated both the 'A' and 'B'

Chaffee teams to clinch the trophy.

In 15-a-side rugby Warwick Academy excelled. The senior squad defeated Whitney with an impressive score of 38-0. Warwick was then challenged by a combined team of other schools. This team had trouble holding Warwick to a draw. The junior 15-a-side squad did just as well, not losing a match.

BASKETBALL

Basketball has become a pouplar sport this year, especially since Mike Wagner, a good friend of the school has become coach. Every Monday and Friday night at 7 o'clock the senior and intermediate teams could be seen working laboriously at improving their skills. Results followed after showing up very well in the Mount St. Agnes tournament, Michal Landis was named to the second all-star senior team, Robert Corday to the first intermediate all-star team and Allan Bernardo to the second all-star intermediate team.

Prize Day

One of the highlights of the second term at Warwick Academy was our annual Prize Day held on the evening of January 11th.

The opening speech delivered by Mr. Gordon Kendall, Chairman of the Board of Directors, stressed the necessity of stern discipline to maintain the tradition of academic excellence established by former students.

The guest of honour, Sir Edward Richards, who gave a highly entertaining speech aimed at both parents and students, presented the prizes and was assisted by Head Girl, Branwen Smith.

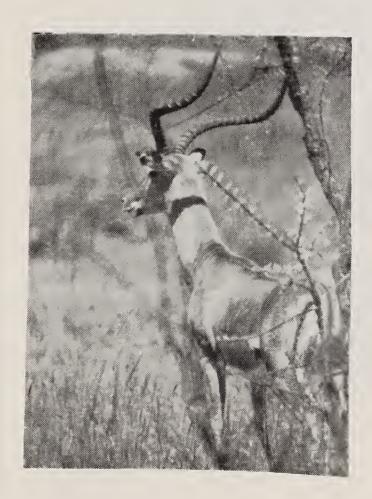

Headmaster Dr. Joseph Marshall gave a stimulating speech in which he speculated on the future of Warwick Academy. His address, although aimed at Warwick Academy students, contained a universal message, quote: "... without change there is no progress. We must prepare our youth for a world that is changing too rapidly." He continued by saying, "to do less would be to short change them." He outlined his proposals for revitalizing the curriculum and improving Warwick Academy as a whole, charging the students to strive to reach the heights of excellence. Dr. Marshall also urged parents to give vitally needed support to their children and concluded his report by pledging to dedicate himself completely to the improvement of Warwick Academy.

It was reported by Mr. Rodriquez, the assistant headmaster, that an average of 75 G.C.E. 'O' level passes had been obtained by last years fifth year students. Distinguished individual achievements included twelve G.C.E. 'O' level passes with five 'A' grades by both Celia Davies and Kathy Harmon; eleven G.C.E. 'O' level passes with seven 'A' grades by Graham Smith and eleven G.C.E. 'O' level passes with four 'A' grades by Cheryl Ann Simmons.

A Trip to Kenya

No! These are not pupils of Warwick Academy, these are some of the animals seen by Richard Lonsdale on his December trip to Kenya. This trip was the prize of a Conservation Week quiz. In Kenya he spent a week viewing game parks taking many photographs of such animals as are seen here. Most of his photography was of a very high standard and even sometimes professional. He has given many slide shows since his return, one of which was to Warwick Academy students, parents and friends.

Continuation of W.A.'s Anti-Pollution Survey

At the end of the Christmas term, Biology master Mr. Waugh conducted another of his litter collecting and analysing expeditions along the North Shore.

Students from the fourth and fifth form converged on a specially selected area and succeeded in amassing 166 returnable bottles and 2,293 non-returnable bottles. A comparison with the statistics from a similar clean-up last year revealed that the litter problem is increasing.

Pollution is everyone's problem and unless we combat it now we condemn ourselves to a black and suicidal future.

The Gondoliers

March 26th to March 30th saw the production of the highly successful Gilbert and Sullivan comic opera, "The Gondoliers."

This year's opera, directed by Marcia Suddards and the orchestra conducted by Shane Skelton, surpassed all expectations. Both the Tuesday and Saturday night audiences gave both cast and orchestra a standing ovation, and each night the audience demanded several encores. The technical side of the production was under management of Roger Harding, assisted by Christopher McKenzie. Susannah Hetherton is to be commended for the creation of a very realistic and picturesque set.

Students were involved with both the construction and painting of the set as well as other details of the production and also acted as members of the chorus. All in all "The Gondoliers" provided six days of lively humourous entertainment.

Up With People

At the end of the Easter term Warwick Academy was priviledged to be visited by about 60 of the Up With People group which consists of young people from all parts of the world including Japan, Belgium, Panama and even Bermuda. They produced a very entertaining show in which members in the audience had a chance to participate including teachers. After their performance they were provided with lunches and mixed with the students.

Warwick Academy's Traffic Survey

A traffic survey carried out by senior students of Warwick Academy and organized by Current Affairs teacher Mr. Jonathan Young came up with some interesting results. The survey showed that the majority of road-users exceeded the current 20 m.p.h. speed limit and that most drivers of motor assisted cycles and scooters are still reluctant to wear crash helmets. Bermudians are the worst offenders in this respect but less than 50 per cent of the tourists wear crash helmets. The report recommended that more publicity be given to the wearing of crash helmets and that the speed limit be varied according to different road conditions.

Traffic is rapidly becoming one of Bermuda's most cricitical problems and Dr. Marshall proposed that this project should take place. With the results of the survey it could be found who the offenders of the traffic code are, what steps could be taken to prevent these violations of the law and what future generations can do to help the situation.

SOLITUDE

Through the dew laden forest With the sun shining through, The rabbits and the birds, They all know you.

With the tread of a deer, The eyes of a fawn, The love of the animals, To you they are drawn.

They know you're the one, And peace do you keep, From out of the thicket, Even the shyest do peep.

You call gently to them And sit on the ground, They rush to be near you And they gather around.

You tell them some stories Of things that are true, Like why is the grass green and the sky turquoise blue.

Then up you get swiftly. And bless everyone, Vanishing into the forest As fast as you'd come.

The animals all scamper,
To get out of the rain
And the solitude of the forest
Has come once again.

THE NORTH-EASTERLY WIND

There is a north-easterly wind,
Cold and damp
Making dogs howl.
Flowers and trees sway back and forth violently,
Papers are scattered all over the place,
Umbrellas and scarves go this way and that,
So, if you're in bed and you hear the wind blow,
Think about others out in the wind and the rain,
But don't go out and join them,
No, no, no!

HAMILTON ON A BUSY SATURDAY AFTERNOON

I entered this building to buy Christmas gifts but when I found myself out on the roof, a thought suddenly struck me. Hamilton is a rose, unfolding its petals at dawn, reaching its peak of life in the afternoon and finally dying late at night.

Gazing over the expanse of the city I noted first the buildings, like huge grey majestic kings presiding over a court. Each king has his mouth open, sallowing hundreds of people, only to regurgitate them a few minutes later. The eyes of the kings, display windows, seem eager to reach out and grab each passerby. Twirling silver bangles, golden mirrors, red ribbons - each are displayed in the windows and each set of king's eyes is more appealing and alluring than the last. As the golden ball of Heaven spins overhead, it reflects some of the envy in each set of eyes.

At the feet of the regal kings runs a long, seemingly never-ending multi-coloured stream. Occasionally a wave breaks from this hubble and is consumed by the kings; sometimes it is consumed by the roaring mechanical monsters which glide down the streets. On taking a close look at the stream, one can distinguish, as incredible as it may sound, human beings. They are the mice of the world, white mice, brown mice, black mice, all scurrying, scampering, trying to get back to their holes before the cats come home.

One in particular, runs from side to side, trying to escape the throng. Like a rubber ball he is bounced, rebounding from solid wall to solid wall. Suddenly, in one last seemingly futile attempt he crashes the barrier and is free! Free, to do anything he pleases! If only we could all try to be freed, as he did, freed from all our shackles....

Smoke! Smoke being belched forth each time one of the rattling, wheezing pink buses takes a breath. Smoke gushing from tops of overheated grey monstrosities. Smoke so thick you can cut it with a scythe. Smoke which runs almost as fast as the crowd below, branching out into small dirty black fingers touching everything in sight, leaving soiled black fingerprints on all it comes into contact with.

Slowly the babble of the immense crowd reaches my ears. The air is alive with the intermingled sounds. The screeching of brakes, the high-pitched voices, all tend to bring me back to my senses as I listen intently to them. The spell is broken, I must buy those presents.

A CHRISTMAS STORY

It was recess at Cherry Hill High and all the students of the senior class were excitedly making plans for the big Christmas play. All except for one girl who sat in the far corner of the room, trying to remain as inconspicuous as possible. Her name was Jenny and she was a lovely girl. She was tall and slender and her beautiful thick chestnut hair fell to her waist. Her rich blue eyes were framed with long black lashes.

Jenny's family had just moved to this area in August. She was so terribly shy, that she had not made any friends yet. And now Christmas was approaching. All her classmates were so happy and exuberant. She could feel the excitement in the air, only she was not a part of it.

As she sat and watched, she noticed how Mike seemed to be the one organising the play. Jenny longed to be in it but no one had asked her and she did not have the nerve to volunteer. But she wasn't thinking about the play now. She had her mind on Mike. He was tall and lean with brown curly hair and dark brown eyes. He was always joking about one thing or another. Everyone liked him, including Jenny.

As she started to walk home that afternoon she thought about what a curse it was to be lonely and shy. If only she could be like Astrid, she thought. But she knew that could never be. Astrid was just about the most popular girl in school, and was probably going to get the leading role in the play. Astrid was always happy and carefree it seemed. She too was tall but with short blonde curly hair. Astrid always had a twinkle in her eyes as if she was planning something mischievous. She was very outgoing and nice. She liked everyone and everyone liked her. She had been very kind to Jenny but everyone else took no notice of her.

The next morning when she woke up there was a blanket of downy white snow covering the countryside. Jenny couldn't see another house from her window, only a Cardinal landing on a small branch, causing a cloud of snow to fall. Forgetting all her worries, she quickly dressed and ran downstairs. As soon as she finished her breakfast she grabbed her books, and started to walk to school. As she walked she noticed some racoon tracks. Though she knew the tracks she had not actually seen one close up. She was suddenly startled by rustling in a nearby bush. It turned out that she had frightened a covey of quail. She liked quail. They were such plump little birds who never seemed to know exactly where they were going, so long as they were together. Then she started to walk through the woods. The trees were tall and motionless, each adorned with a white robe. Shafts of light from the early morning sun managed to find their way through the tall pines. revealing sparkling diamonds whereever they landed. A few squirrels scampered about feeling fortunate that they had prepared their winter stores. The birds seemed overjoyed with this new beauty and expressed their happiness in song. As Jenny was nearing the creek, she spotted a doe. Jenny froze hoping that the doe had not seen her. But all she did was gracefully raise her head, survey the area with her eyes and then she continued to nibble on the bark of the birch trees which grew along banks of the creek. The beauty and grace of this creature left Jenny awed. Jenny tried to step closer but this alarmed the doe and she lept away with remarkable agility. Slightly disappointed, Jenny continued on her way to school.

In the weeks that followed, everyone in the play worked hard. Rehearsals were held every night. By now Astrid, who had the lead part, had talked Jenny into helping with the costumes.

One night, a week before the play, some of Jenny's classmates went to the lake to go ice skating. Mike asked Jenny to come along. Jenny was absolutely delighted. Everyone had fun practicing their skill on ice. Jenny thought Astrid simply magnificent. She was so swift and graceful. But as Astrid attempted a particularly difficult leap, she lost her balance and slipped. When Astrid did not get up immediately, Mike's face which two minutes ago had had a big smile and red cheeks suddenly was very grim and pale. Mike rushed over as all the gaiety and laughter stopped. Astrid was in terrible pain. When the doctor arrived, he announced that her leg was broken.

Everyone knew that the play would have to be called off now, with only one week to go and no one to play the lead. Everyone gathered around Mike in silence. He grimly looked around at each of them as if looking for an answer. When he looked at Jenny he stopped. His eyes lit up and the corners of his mouth slowly turned upwards.

"Jenny, how about it?" She turned around, as if expecting to see some girl named Jenny standing behind her, but when she saw no one she realized Mike must be talking to her.

"Me?"

"Do you think you can do it?" Everyone was looking at her expectantly.

"I can try." Suddenly the talking and laughter started up again but Jenny was in a daze. She, of all people, had just been given the lead part. She couldn't believe it.

"It will be a lot of work. You will only have one week while every one else had many weeks." She hardly heard Mike. Was this real? "How would you like to start first thing tomorrow morning?" She still couldn't believe it. "Jenny?"

"Oh yes, fine Mike!"

In the days that followed she worked hard, and Mike never ceased to help her. The script almost never left her hand. Before she knew it, it was opening night. Everyone was nervous, wondering if she could do it. The play was a wonderful success and the applause was enthusiastic. Jenny had not made one mistake. Everyone was relieved and overjoyed. Everyone congratulated and praised her. There were three performances. Each night Jenny did just as well as the first.

The following day was Christmas Eve and Mike held a big party in honour of Jenny. She had become good friends with everyone now. This was the most wonderful Christmas she had ever had and she received the best Christmas present she could have wished for - the gift of friendship!
